Four Japanese War Industrial Centers Under Air Attacks

Superforts Concentrate on Smaller Cities; Results Excellent

Guam, June 18—(AP)—Four of Japan's smaller war industrial cities were set afire today in predawn raids by 450 American Super-Fortresses which caught the enemy by surprise but met extremely accurate antiaircraft gunfire over one target.

One plane was missing after the latest strike, the 20th Air Force reported at Washington. The announcement said that results ranged from "good to excellent."

The cities hit, each of less than 200,000 population, were Kagoshima and Omuta on Kyushu island and Hamamatsu and Yokkaichi on Honshu island.

Japanese communique, saying the raids lasted from one to more than five hours, claimed fires started in Hamamatsu and Yokkaichi were brought under control nearly four hours after the bombers left and those on Omuta and Kagoshima were "mostly extinguished" a little more than an hour after the all-clear signal.

Total tonnage of the incendiary bombs dropped in the low-level attacks was not announced. The raids were part of the 21st Bomber Command's new program of going after smaller Japanese cities that harbor many small but important factories and thousands of "backyard" shops.

City Brightly-Lighted

Fliers said they found all of Kagoshima brightly-lighted, including its naval anchorage, and ran into strong flak. The fire bombs set blazes that sent smoke boiling up more than 12,000 feet and burned a "hole" in the overcast at 7,500 feet through which bright flames could be seen.

Crews who bombed Omuta said results were "good to excellent" with several large explosions, no fighter opposition and meager antiaircraft fire.

Those who hit Hamamatsu described bombing conditions as "excellent" and results good, with "fine" fires sets, smoke rising to 15,000 feet, and broken overcast that kept interceptors and antiaircraft fire down "to the vanishing point."

The story was the same over Yokkaichi, where the raiders counted three large conflagrations and 30 scattered fires, saw smoke 14,000 feet high, and encountered only inaccurate flak.

Chicago Trucking Lines Operating With Army Guards

Chicago, June 18—(AP)—Soldiers drove and escorted trucks through Chicago today as the government coped with a work stoppage that has crippled transport operations since Saturday.

The effectiveness of this Office of Defense Transportation action could not be determined immediately. The multiple agencies entangled in the stoppage—two unions, a management organization, the Army and the ODT—had only meager information on what cargoes were moving.

By midmorning the Army had supplied 182 soldiers as drivers for two cartage concerns and an additional 75 soldiers awaited orders at a third, W. B. Crawford, attorney for the Chicago Cartage Exchange, management group, reported.

In cases where drivers reported for duty, soldiers rode with them in the cabs as protection against possible violence.

3,500 Soldiers on Hand

Thirty-five hundred soldiers were on hand, ready to move in wherever needed. They were called to Chicago at the request of Ellis T. Longenecker, federal manager of the 1,700 government seized lines.

Longenecker, who assumed management of the 1,700 lines Friday midnight under presidential authority, had asked for the names of strikers with the view of pos-

Jap Ground Forces On Okinawa Cut in Two by Americans

Officers Take Suicide as Last Resort; 1600 Japs Die Each Day

BULLETIN

Manila, June 18—(AP)—Japanese soldiers are surrendering in the Cagayan valley of northern Luzon in "the greatest haul" of the southwest Pacific, Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commander of the 37th Infantry Division, said today as his men drove rapidly northward on the valley floor.

Beightler made his statement to Hamilton W. Faron, Associated Press war correspondent with the 37th, after staff officers completed counting 417 prisoners taken in one 24-hour period.

The Nipponese continued to stream into the prisoner stockage the following day. An incomplete count added 162 more, bringing the total for 36 hours to 609.

Faron reported the prisoners appeared glad to be out of the war, were docile and well conditioned.

Guam, June 18—(AP)—The thinning Japanese garrison on southern Okinawa was cut into two segments today, most of the enemy forces were retreating from the Yaeju plateau and those in the rear were hammered by 200 massed American guns.

At least one enemy leader, Adm. Minoru Ota, naval base force commander, killed himself. His body, with throat slit, was found in an elaborate underground command post.

The Japanese are dying at the rate of 1,600 a day, said Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in announcing 12,756 had been slain in eight days, swelling to 80,459 the number killed since the invasion began April 1.

The estimated 8,000 to 12,000 Japanese still fighting were fall-

Mystery

Members of the Dixon police department were called to investigate an automobile parked on Crawford avenue between Third and Fourth streets this morning about 7:30 o'clock. The condition of the interior of the car, according to the police report, indicated that quite a struggle had taken place in the machine.

The upholstery was badly torn and smeared with blood and a small dog which was found in the car was also blood splattered the report stated. The investigating officers had not determined just what took place in the car either last night or at an early hour this morning.

Party Girl

Chicago, June 18 (AP)—Mrs. Irene Amanda Woods, a week past the century mark and a party girl in the estimation of her great-granddaughter, took her first airplane ride yesterday and observed that as a horseback riding girl in Ohio "I never let any grass grow under my feet".

She had told her birthday party she had had a hankering to fly ever since the Wright Brothers began tinkering with their machines. An airline (American) took her at her word and jogged her gently at 1,500 feet over her north side home.

When she landed, orchids and eyes gleaming, she said: "That was swell. Now when do I get those pork chops?"

An airline chef, a bit of a magician, fried her two, and as Mrs. Walker ate them, Mrs. Myrtle Walker, the great-granddaughter, observing "grandma" was always a party girl, added she always was the last turn in on a party.

Capital Gives Gen. 'Ike' Great Ovation in Tumult of Voices

Supreme Allied Commander Addresses Joint Session Congress

Washington, June 18—(AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower, returning triumphantly to his homeland from victory in Europe, declared today his soldiers "passionately" believe "the problems of peace can and must be met."

Climaxing a spectacular homecoming that saw him ride over the capital's historic triumphal parade route—Pennsylvania avenue—past wildly cheering men and women, General Eisenhower told a joint session of congress and the supreme court:

"The genius and power of America have, with her allies, eliminated one menace to our country's freedom—even her very existence. Still another remains to be crushed in the Pacific before peace will be restored."

Saying he spoke for the American men and women he commanded, the allied supreme commander declared:

"Though we dream of return to our loved ones, we are ready, as we always have been, to do our duty to our country, no matter what it may be."

Earlier in his prepared speech, the general asserted the "problems of peace can be no more difficult that the one you have had to solve more than three years ago . . . with the same determination, the same optimistic resolution and the same mutual consideration among allies . . . the problems of peace can and must be met."

Hundreds of thousands of wildly shouting men, women and children, veterans of this war and the last, wounded veterans, the old and the young, raised their voices in a mighty tumult as the general of the Army rode through their midst.

It was one of the greatest ovations the nation's capital ever rendered.

It started when the European commander left his giant plane at the National airport and continued through lines often 10 deep to the Pentagon building, into the city past the Lincoln Memorial, down broad Constitution avenue to historic Pennsylvania and thence to the seat of the lawmakers on Capitol Hill.

On arriving at the Capitol the smiling Eisenhower strode down the center aisle of a house chamber reverberating with cheers and applause.

Every Seat Filled

Members of congress and packed galleries applauded, whistled and cheered for two full minutes as the tall, sun-burned Kansan walked down the aisle to take up position behind a battery of 12 microphones. He nodded and grinned while the stirring welcome rolled in waves through the packed room. He chatted briefly with House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn), president pro tem of the senate.

The general was presented by Speaker Rayburn, and another ovation followed. He started speaking at 12.34 (11:34 p. m., CWT).

Every seat in the big house chamber was filled minutes before the general arrived.

Notables Present

At one side sat Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff; Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the commander-in-chief, Admiral of the Fleet Ernest J. King; Gen. Ira Eaker, deputy chief of staff for the air forces.

The joint session of congress began at 12:17 p. m., when members of the senate filed down the center aisle two by two to take seats before the speaker's desk.

They were followed by justices of the supreme court, members of the cabinet and diplomatic representatives of other nations.

Several children dotted the throng on the house floor.

Sound cameras whirred as the general spoke.

President Truman's own sleek C-54, one of four big transports, bringing the general and his party home from the wars, landed on Washington's National airport at 11:11 a. m. (10:11 a. m., CWT). Thousands of necks craned in a jammed Washington as the planes, escorted by fighters, roared over the capital at 11:08 a. m., enroute to the airport.

Deportation Order Against Bridges is Invalidated Today

Supreme Court Rules in Favor of West Coast Labor Leader

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—The Supreme court today ruled invalid a deportation order against Harry Bridges, west coast CIO leader.

Justice Douglas delivered the court's 5-3 opinion. Justice Jackson took no part in the case. Chief Justice Stone wrote a dissent in which Justices Frankfurter and Roberts concurred.

The court's decision climaxed a seven-year fight over government efforts to send the alien Bridges back to Australia whence he came a quarter-century ago.

Attorney General Biddle ordered Bridges deported on the ground that the longshoremen's union executive had been a member of the communist party. Biddle at that time said the party advocated violent overthrow of the United States government.

Bridges contended Biddle's order violated rights guaranteed to an alien by the constitution. He denied that he ever had been a member of the communist party or was affiliated with it.

The justice department replied that the federal government had sovereign power through its legislative and executive arms "to rid itself of those deemed inimical to the national welfare." Biddle said his order was based on an act of congress which stipulates that the attorney general's findings in such cases are final.

Term "Misconstrued"

Justice Douglas said for the majority that Bridges had been ordered deported "on a misconstruction of the term 'affiliation' as used in the statute and by reason of an unfair hearing on the question of his membership in the communist party his detention under the warrant is unlawful."

"Accordingly," Douglas said "it is unnecessary for us to consider the larger constitutional questions which have been advanced in the challenge to the legality of petitioner's (Bridges) detention under the deportation order."

Douglas said the legislative history of the deportation statute throws little light on the meaning of "affiliation."

(This reference was to Bridges' alleged "affiliation" with the communist party).

"It imports however, less than membership but more than sympathy," he said. "By the terms of the statute it includes those who contribute money or anything of value to an organization which believes, advises, advocates or teaches the overthrow of our government by force or violence. That example throws light on the meaning of the term 'affiliation'. x x x

For Limited Objectives

"Individuals like nations, may cooperate as a common cause over a period of months or years though their ultimate aims do not coincide. Alliances for limited objectives are well known. Certainly those who joined forces with Russia to defeat the nazis may not be said to have made an alliance to spread the cause of communism. An individual who makes contributions to feed hungry men does not become 'affiliated' with the communist cause because those men are communists. A different result is not necessarily indicated if aid is given to or received from a proscribed organization in order to win a legitimate objective in a domestic controversy".

Chief Justice Stone in his dissent said that "when the authority to deport the alien turns on a determination of fact by the attorney general the courts are without authority to disturb his finding if it has the support of Soviet Russia, marching up the hill and then down again, continues as the prize enigma at San Francisco and in Europe. Trying to locate her position is like trying to put the little drops of mercury in the proper spot of the old-time puzzle boxes.

No country is so outspoken about the affairs of others. Hardly a country but has received her advice about affairs which once were termed domestic, although it is true that now there is hardly anything without international implications.

Yet Russia declines to accept a charter providing for discussion of "any matter within the sphere of international relations" and wishes the assembly to consider only matters "relating to the maintenance of international peace and security."

The former phrase admittedly is broader, but since everything involved in it is a potential factor in the latter, it is not clear why anyone in a sincere determined search for peace should object.

This Week

Washington, June 18—(AP)—The Office of War Information said today:

"The government needs and asks its citizens in this 181th week of the war against Japan to:

"Keep the Japanese in the dark, as troop transfers increase. Don't write or talk about the movements of men, ships or materials to or from the Pacific.

"Stay off the already-crowded trains during the July 4 holidays, and spend your time at home. Troop furloughs and transfers must come first.

"Take a vacation job on a farm when school is out. Farmers need help to bring in the harvest necessary to prevent threatening food shortages.

"Buy your soldier a bond before the end of the mighty seventh war loan drive. Notify him or your gift on a special V-Mail bond certificate.

"Join the cadet nurse corps. Although the army now has sufficient nursing personnel, 10,000 cadet nurses must be enlisted before December 31 for essential civilian nursing jobs."

Soviet Prosecutor May Ask Death Penalty in Some Cases

Peacetime Draft Favored by Group

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—Unless it changes its mind, the Woodrum committee will recommend soon that the United States adopt universal training as a part of its permanent postwar military policy. Enactment of the necessary legislation, however, is in doubt.

The special house group created to study postwar military policy will hear congressional testimony tomorrow before closing its public consideration of peacetime draft proposals. It already has heard more than 100 witnesses.

An informal poll of the 23-man committee showed today that a top-heavy majority favors the principle of compulsory peacetime training.

But the committee's recommendation will be only the start of a long and bitter battle.

Details of legislation must be blueprinted by either the house or the senate military committee. Normally the house group would act first, but there is a possibility it may await senate action.

Many house members, including some of the most ardent proponents of a peacetime draft, do not think the senate will approve legislation to put it into effect. They see no reason for the house to go on record on such a controversial subject, with elections just a year away, unless the senate is willing to go along.

Conference Timetable Threatened by Russians Efforts to Curtail Assembly

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic News Editor

San Francisco, June 18 (AP)—Only one issue stands between the United Nations conference and adjournment, but that one, raised by Russia, may be enough to block the scheduled windup next Saturday.

Russia is demanding restriction of powers already formally proposed for the general assembly of the proposed world organization to discuss and make recommendations on any matter affecting international relations. Moscow wants this changed to cover only questions "relating to the maintenance of international peace and security".

Reopening this controversy has stirred anew small nation resistance to big power leadership in the writing of a United Nations security charter.

Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt of Australia has let it be known that he is considering reopening other issues by staging a new fight against the Big-Five veto in the world security council.

Secretary of State Stettinius put himself, Evatt and Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko on a special committee yesterday to work out a compromise on the Russian demand. Today he had to inform the conference executive committee that it had failed to do so. Gromyko under instructions from Moscow was unable to accept any compromise and could only report back to Moscow what was offered.

Confronted with a fight timetable which he intends to stick to if at all possible, Stettinius evidently hoped to avoid an open floor fight which might provoke lengthy debate and could end in defeat for Russia if the small nations lined up strongly behind Evatt. The next move was up to the executive committees.

Nelson Prepares for Three More Golf Meets

Philadelphia, Pa., June 18—(AP) Byron Nelson, golfdom's most ardent bookkeeper, posted three more entries in his elaborate set of ledgers today after his triumph in the Philadelphia Inquirer's $17,500 invitation tournament.

The Toledo umbrella salesman finished with four consective birds yesterday to register a 63 that went into one book as a course record for the Llanerch Country Club links.

The 269 that gave him a two stroke lead over Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia, served to reduce his average for his last six tournaments to 67.45 strokes per round and this was recorded in another ledger.

Then in the most important volume he listed the $2,333.33 paid to him winner o fthe links test played for the benefit of the Professional Golfer's Association Rehabilitation Fund.

Nelson started earning his livlihood as a bookkeeper in a Texas railroad station. When he switched to golf, his former habits stayed with him.

Hard Coal Price Lift Begins Today in U. S.

Washington, June 18 (AP) A $1-a-ton hike in the price of hard coal to householders became effective today to cover mine wage increases.

The ceiling increase, accompanied by price rises of 25 to 50 cents on industrial sizes of anthracite, was authorized by Economic Stabilizer William H. Davis Saturday night when he approved the new hard coal wage agreement.

The agreement, which followed a three-week work stoppage in May, was approved by the War Labor Board June 6. It carries a pay increase of $1.37½ cents a day for 68,000 miners and lesser increases for 4,000 other anthracite workers.

OPA studies showed that an increase in coal prices averaging 75 cents a ton for both domestic and industrial users was necessary, Davis said.

Approval was given for corresponding price increases for coal docks on the west bank of Lake Michigan at Waukegan and north; north, and on the U. S. side of Lake Superior. This price increase also will be passed on to purchasers.

Bodies of Three Nazis Found in Salt Mine

Wiesbaden, June 18 (AP) The bodies of three former German rulers Reichspresident Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and Kaisers Frederick the Great and Friedrich Wilhelm I have been removed from a walled-in hidden crypt in a German salt mine.

Also removed were the body of Hindenburg's wife and a large quantity of treasure, including jewelry, historic battleflags, a sword presented by Pope Pius II in 1406 to Kurfuerst (Elector) Albrecht Achilles and a painting believed to be from the Uffizi gallery in Florence.

The caskets had been hidden by nazis from the path of advancing Russian forces.

Tactical Decisions Made on Okinawa Defended by Adm. Nimitz, Commander

Guam, June 18 AP) Subsequent events proved the wisdom of tactical decisions made on Okinawa, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said yesterday and added that criticism leveled by newspaper columnist David Lawrence was "out of place and ill-advised."

"Simple justice to a group of fine soldiers" made it necessary that Lawrence's June 1 column be answered, the Pacific Fleet commander told a press conference in an unprecedented statement.

"Lawrence column showed that he had been badly misinformed," Nimitz said, and had been given "information by someone with an axe to grind." The remarks gave the impression, he declared, that the writer has been "made use of for purposes which are not in the best interests of the United States."

(In Washington, Lawrence replied that Nimitz himself was "misinformed about what I wrote." The column, he said, was based on a dispatch from Okinawa by correspondent Homer Bigart of the New York Herald Tribune who expressed the opinion a landing should have been made by Marines behind the Japanese lines.)

Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., Tenth Army commander, made all tactical decisions on the island "but they had my concurrence," Nimitz declared.

"New landings," he said "would have had to be made over very unsatisfactory beaches against an alerted enemy defense. They would have created heavy casualties and would have created unacceptable supply problems. The tactics decided upon have now proved successful x x x with losses to ourselves which, although serious, are relatively small."

Manila, June 18—(AP) Gen. H. H. Arnold, head of the U. S. Army Air Forces, said today "by the end of 1946, we figure, there will be nothing left of Japan to bomb".

Arnold conferring with Gen. George C. Kenney, chief of the Far East air forces at the latter's Philippines headquarters, expressed his views at a press conference.

Amplifying his program to drop three times as many bombs on Japan in the next 18 months as were dropped on Germany, Arnold declared: "we will do it with every airplane I can find a field for".

He asserted that by this fall there would be twice as many B-29s in operation against Japan as were used in May, when the heavy fire raids on Tokyo and other cities were started by fleets of 100 and 500 of the big bombers.

Twelve thousand pound factory buster bombs now in production in production in the United States, will be used on "suitable targets".

Arnold remarked that the distance involved in bombing Manchuria, where many Japanese war plants are located, "doesn't worry us from Okinawa we can cover half of China and all of Manchuria".

He predicted that "lack of fuel will drive Japan's air force from the skies just as it did the luftwaffe".

Trial of Sixteen

his fellow defendants heard the charges without emotion. One of the 16 accused Poles was ill and did not attend.

The trials were held in the same [illegible] hall of the Labor building where the Trotskyist purge trials were held in 1937. The same Judge Vasily V. Ulrich presided.

Okulicki was accused of possessing at the time of his arrest by the Red Army a document in which he declared that in the event of a soviet victory over Germany England would have to form a western European bloc to combat the Russians. The document was said to assert that Germany and Poland should be in the bloc.

May Ask Death For Some

The secretary of the court said Okulicki had confessed to sending the [illegible] about the European [illegible] many radio station which the Red army took from the [illegible]. The Moscow broadcast said Okulicki commander of the Polish home army testified that he had received orders from the exiled Polish government in London to preserve the home army in a condition of illegality.

Earlier Moscow had announced the 16 underground leaders had been indicted formally on the charges.

Okulicki further testified the broadcast said that the preservation of the home army was intended for armed struggles against the provisional Polish government and the Red army. Jankowski (Jan Jankowski vice premier of the London Polish government [illegible] confined the [illegible].

Maj. Gen. Opalyachiev, chief public prosecutor of the Red army was said to be presenting the case for the Soviet government.

Details of Indictment

First full details of the indictment against the 16 Poles were carried in the soviet announcement.

Okulicki and the underground (government) had at their disposal armed detachments arms ammunition dumps radio receivers and transmitters illegal print shops and premises for conspiracy the Moscow broadcast said. The liberation of Poland by the Red army was libelously called a soviet occupation by Okulicki and his government. The directed work of their underground organization upon instructions of the Polish emigre government against the soviet union and Red army.

The defendants besides Okulicki and Jankowski were listed as Adam Bien, Pelagiant Bart [illegible] Stanislaw Jasiukowicz, former Parliament National Party representative A. These defendants were listed in a broadcast heard by the Federal Communications Commission.

CHARGE "RINGER" INTRODUCED

London, June 18 (AP) A spokesman for the exiled Polish government in London charged today that the Russians had introduced a "ringer" among the 16 Poles on trial in Moscow for sabotage and attributed many of the damaging admissions to him.

For a long time we have wondered who the 16th prisoner was the spokesman said. Now we learn he is M. [illegible] a name entirely unknown to us. It is significant how much of the talking he has done.

Reports from the trial said Jarsen commanded the whole underground army around Lwow. We would like to make the point that Gen. Filipkowski commanded in this district and that when the Russians took Lwow he was arrested on the spot and his name and rank were made public at that time.

incoming a fighting general rang from hundreds of throats as the modest 54 year-old son of a Kansas farm family stepped from the huge flying ship. He flashed his famous grin in response.

General Marshall and Eisenhower's petite and vivacious wife rushed to meet him as the door of his plane opened.

Escorted by Bombers

A flight of more than [illegible] bombers and fighters, symbolic of the might that vanquished German and Italian armies, escorted the allied supreme commander's plane from the Atlantic coast to the airdrome in Virginia just across the Potomac from Washington.

Mr. Eisenhower ran to the general as he came down the steps from the plane and embraced and kissed him.

Scores of photographers who [illegible] shot at the general and down the steps yelled [illegible] the kiss general.

[illegible] and men [illegible] First Lt. John Sheldon Eisenhower. It was a double reunion for Mrs. Eisenhower who had not seen her husband or son for many months.

As the general embraced his wife he said: It's been a long time darling.

As Marshall walked up [illegible] General [illegible] glad to see you.

General Marshall also greeted all the warriors with Eisenhower as they set foot on American soil for the first time since victory in Europe.

Immediately after General Marshall welcomed Eisenhower the [illegible] returned from overseas rendered four ruffles and four flourishes and struck up a march.

As the general motored into the Pentagon's inner court he stood up in the combat car to wave smiling acknowledgement to the cheers of 32,000 war department workers gathered there with Secretary Stimson and other high department officials.

When his car slowed to a stop in the front of Stimson, Eisenhower saluted, then stepped down to shake hands with the secretary, the other civilian officials and the group of high ranking generals gathered at the reception point.

The exchange of greetings at the Pentagon ceremony occupied only a few moments, the general thanking his audience and Stimson and praising the work of the more than three million GIs who fought under him.

[illegible] with all of the high ranking officers to greet the general was Pvt. Patrick Corrigan 22 year old Syracuse N. Y. soldier who was wounded five times in the European fighting. Corrigan went up to Eisenhower's car after the ceremony to shake hands with the general.

Addresses Congress

Eisenhower told the nation's lawmakers and guests that the soldier passionately believes [illegible] the problem of peace can and must be met.

To the soldiers, moreover, the general declared in an address prepared for his appearance before a joint session of congress and the Supreme court. The problem of peace [illegible] more difficult than the [illegible] had to solve more than three years ago and which in so battle area has now been brought to [illegible] conclusion.

He passionately believes that with the [illegible] determination the [illegible] the same mutual consideration among the allies that [illegible] in Europe [illegible] crushing [illegible] the great [illegible] war machine [illegible] the problem [illegible] and may be met.

Refers to Pacific War

Referring to the Pacific war General Eisenhower said:

Speaking [illegible] American men and women, I have [illegible] so honored [illegible] our minds and hearts there is no slightest doubt that our people's spirit of determination which has buoyed up and driven us [illegible] world in Europe will continue to fire this [illegible] until [illegible].

Though [illegible] we are ready as we have always been to do our duty [illegible] no matter [illegible].

General Eisenhower made these other points:

The late president and Prime Minister Churchill were two God given men to whom the world owe[s] lasting obligation. In Churchill Roosevelt had a worthy partner who had led his country through its darkest hour in 1940.

Britons and Americans forgot differences in customs and methods, even national prejudice in their devotion to a common cause.

Reds Played Decisive Part

The campaigns of the Red army crushing all resistance in the east played a decisive part in the defeat of Germany.

The banners of victory cannot hide from sight these sacrifices in which victory has been bought.

Wounded Sailor Comes Home to Sick Daughter

Waterloo, Ia., June 18—(AP)—Seaman first class Richard J. Peel, 22, who was on Saipan just a week ago comforted his leukemia stricken daughter Diana Lou, 3, with "now we can be sick together."

"I came a long way just to hear you cry," Peel told Diana Lou yesterday when he stepped on crutches from a plane and embraced her. The girl has shown some improvement since doctors a week ago reported she had only a week or two to live.

Peel, who left Saipan June 11, was wounded by shrapnel when Japanese suicide planes attacked his destroyer in the Pacific. He was located June 8 in a field hospital by the Red Cross and flew 8,000 miles to be with his daughter.

And when he arrived home he met his six weeks-old son, Richard J. Peel II, for the first time and observed he was bald headed just like his dad.

British Charge "Lord Haw Haw" With Treason

London, June 18 (AP) William Joyce, the American-born Lord Haw Haw who taunted the British over the German radio, was formally charged with high treason today in ancient Bow street court.

The charge was based on the contention that between Sept. 2, 1939, and May 29, 1945, being a person owing allegiance to His Majesty the King, he adhered to the King's enemies elsewhere than in the King's realm, to wit the German realm, contrary to the treason act.

Joyce, looking older than his 39 years, showed little emotion as he heard the magistrate read the charge and was bound over for trial beginning June 25.

London's queued up outside the Bow street court to get a glimpse of Haw Haw, who appeared on the docket with a half-dozen drunks and prostitutes.

Some of them apparently tried to reform near Makabe on the western side of the plateau and everything up to eight inch howitzers slammed into them simultaneously.

Sixth Marines Join Fight

The Sixth Marine Division finished mopping up on Oruku peninsula, where Ota's body was found, joined the final battle and it was this outfit that lopped off one enemy force.

The Marines attacked on the west flank and cut off the Japanese near Mezado northwest of Makabe and less than three miles from Okinawa's southern tip.

The Japanese made no attempt to break out of the encirclement, apparently resigned to fight and die where they were. More than half of Hara Kiri Mesa—the name given to Yaeju plateau by American troops—was in the hands of Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner's U. S. Tenth Army.

The last three important heights commanding all the less than eight square miles of the island in which the enemy is cornered were seized over the week end.

Over the week end the Japanese resumed Kamikaze attacks on American shipping in Okinawan waters. Adm. Nimitz's communique admitted one light unit was sunk yesterday.

American fighters and torpedo bombers hit back with a three hour attack on the Amami islands 120 miles north of Okinawa.

Manila, June 18 (AP) U. S. Sixth Army troops spearheaded by the Third Division, 7th Infantry Division were slamming rapidly northward on Luzon today in a bid for an early cleanup of weakening Japanese resistance. Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that the Philippine campaign had [illegible] casualties in eight months.

Breakdown of the Japanese transport system under the relentless pounding of U. S. Fifth Air Force planes was given much of the credit for the fast advance of the ground forces northward [illegible] the Cagayan valley where the last [illegible] concentration of Nippon [illegible] holding out on northern Luzon.

Hundreds of burned out trucks and tanks victims of an attack were found along roadside as the 37th Division of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler gained 1[illegible] and 11 miles in one day in parallel drives through the [illegible] reaching Cauayan and Cabatuan.

10 Miles in Three Days

The Buckeye Division had advanced 40 miles in three days, now fighting out into the valley floor after a long slugging match up the mountainous gorge traversed by Highway No. 5.

The next likely spot for a heated [illegible] is [illegible] six and one half miles north of the 7th Division's latest positions where the highway crosses the broad Cagayan river just south of the town of Naguilian. Then the highway follows the river northward to Aparri 125 miles distant by road and 90 by air.

Somewhere along that route it is believed that the Americans first catch up with thousands of [illegible] ranging from radio technicians to geisha girls who fled from Manila at the end of that she is seeking to prevent assembly discussion of the cases of Yugoslavia, Romania, Poland, Czechoslovakia and others which certainly involve the international sphere but which since none of these countries are in any position to declare war do not actually at the moment involve peace.

But others say Russia does desire peace sincerely. They will merely put this new contention down as another inexplicable move on Moscow's part to which they expect to find the answer later.

This also applies to the latest moves regarding Poland where Russia chooses the very time of consultations regarding the Polish government to bring to trial 16 Poles whose mere arrest caused a breakdown in negotiations only a few weeks ago.

A close observer of the San Francisco conference recently reported that the leading delegates liked the Russians, were not mad at them, but just had a terrible feeling of frustration when it came to understanding their methods or what they really wanted.

Language has a very real part in the difficulty. Personal conferences with Stalin where intonation and facial expression enhance the words of the interpreter always seem to end on a different note than negotiation in writing. There also may be something to the contention that Russia has not yet grown up in international outlook is actually not very well [illegible] reaction some of her actions are bound to get abroad.

In the meantime America may maintain a better balance on the subject by remembering that the United States today might well be [illegible] if it were standing off watching the United States of the Monroe war or Nicaraguan occupation [illegible] more pertinently, of 1919-20.

Venier-Eastman Wedding Saturday

In a beautiful ceremony Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, Miss Ada Venier and Cpl. Arthur Eastman were united in marriage at St. Patrick's Catholic church with Reverend Father T. L. Walsh officiating at the nuptial high mass, the mass being served by a cousin of the birdegroom John Gardner, and John Phelps. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Willard Jones, organist, and Mrs. John Lahey, soloist, gave a program of nuptial music.

The ushers were Ronald Potter and Sgt. Don Vaile.

The lovely bride who was given in marriage by her father, made a charming picture in her gown of white satin and net, made floor length with a train. Ruffled net encircled the skirt, and also outlined the low scalloped neckline. Tiny ruffles completed the long sleeves. The three quarter length veil was draped from a tiara of lace and silver sequins. Her flowers were white roses, the bouquet in crescent shape, with tiny fern leaves. She carried a white prayer book, the gift of her mother.

Mrs. George Cain and Miss Marilyn Crawford were the bridesmaids. Miss Crawford wore blue silk organdy, and Mrs. Cain wore pink silk organdy. Their flowers were fan shaped bouquets of blue, pink, yellow and white flowers. The maid of honor, Miss Virginia Munrphy, wore a gown of yellow silk organdy, her fan shaped bouquet being of blue and yellow flowers. The flower girl, Margaret Burke wore a gown of blue silk organdy, floor length, and carried a while basket from which she scattered flower petals.

The best man was Joseph Venier of Camp Sherman, Texas.

After the cermony a breakfast was given at the Coffee House for the wedding party, including twenty guests, where the tables were beautifully decorated with flowers.

In the afternoon a reception was held at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Venier, 1118 Peoria avenue, which was attended by 150 guests. One of the features of the reception was the large tiered wedding cake decorated and flower trimmed. The rooms were decorated with white flowers and tapers.

Mrs. Eastman, mother of the bridegroom wore black with a corsage of pink carnations and was in royal blue with a corsage in pink. Madame Cimafosti, grandmother of the bride, was in black with white accessories.

Corporal Eastman and his bride are spending some time in Chicago, and on their return they will leave for Florida where he will be stationed. Mrs. Eastman's going away costume was of chartreuse gabardine and she wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Eastman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Venier is a Dixon high school graduate and has been employed in the billing department of the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. Corporal Eastman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Eastman and is also a graduate of Dixon high shcool. He has been serving with the Marines in the southwest Pacific, but will now be stationed in Florida. Both are popular young folks with many friends.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jetter of Springfield; Romano Rosa Castaldo, Maria Rosa Castaldo, Clementina Rosa Castaldo, Gisella Rosa Castaldo, Rock Island; Mrs. Eva Boyer, Los Angles, Cal.; Orville Drew, Mrs. Edward Smith and little daughter Maureen of Chicago.

Red Point Budget is Again Upset by OPA

Washington, June 18—(AP)—For the second time in a month, OPA upset housewives' red point budgets today by posting another two-point ration hike for lard, shortening and salad and cooking oils.

Effective yesterday, the boost places a 12-point-a-pound value on those products.

The agency said its action was necessary because of reduced supplies and uneven distribution.

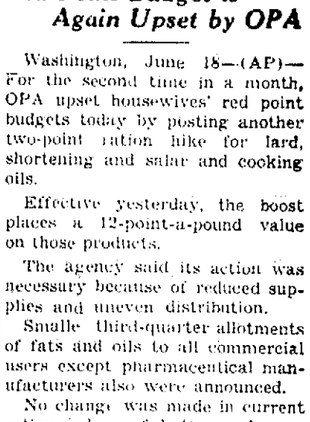

Smalle third-quarter allotments of fats and oils to all commercial users except pharmaceutical manufacturers also were announced.

No change was made in current ration values of butter and margarine.

A Thought for Today

Turn us thou unto thee, O Lord, and we shall be turned; renew our days as of old.—Lamentations 5:21.

To err is human, to forgive, divin.—Pope.

Wrong Actor

Senator Ray Willis of Indiana was quoted the other day as saying that the OPA, instead of "holding the price line," is "shrinking the waistline."

That isn't a bad summing up of the congressional case against the price agency. In fact it's a pretty neat example of the senatorial epigram, which occasionally is on the ponderous side. There's only one trouble, as we see it. Senator Willis wasn't the right man to utter it.

The gentleman from Indiana is a poor advertisement of OPA's villainous ineptitude. He has one of the least shrunk-looking waistlines in the senate. And while his accusation may be true, we fear that his solid presence robs it of some persuasiveness.

So we hope the next time Mr. Willis conceives a similar sally, he will seek out some senatorial Cassius with a lean and hungry look to deliver it. Mr. Capper of Kansas, for instance, could talk convincingly of shrinking waistlines. So could Mr. Ball of Minnesota. But Mr. Willis may have defeated his purpose by his performance. The script was good, but the casting was all wrong.

Policing Lend-Lease

On the day that the Foreign Economic Administration announced a sharp curtailment in the lend-lease program to France, the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported that French flyers in American lend-leased bombers had carried out obliterating raids on Arab villages in Algeria.

Apparently there was no connection between the two announcements. Nevertheless, it is good to know that usage of lend-lease material is now being scrutinized closely. With Germany beaten, lend-lease comes under the heading of expedient altruism. It is right that this country should know its ultimate use.

France's disheartening use of arms contributed to the common-defense should serve to shapen the vigilance of lend-lease authorities.

The Bill for War

None of us can appreciate the actuality of a trillion dollars, which American University researchers estimate is the cost of the war to date. But the least imaginative of us can take that inconceivable figure, add the destruction of public and private property which the estimate does not include, and add to that the yet-uncounted millions of lives lost since Sept. 1, 1939.

The result will not give us an accurate total, but it will give us an inescapable conclusion: Civilization cannot again indulge in such staggering, insane extravagance and survive

Fair Enough

by Westbrook Pegler

Washington - It will be futile to deny that the personal honor and official integrity of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt have been clouded by the facts so far revealed and the unchallenged statements in section with a loan of $200,000 from John Hartford, president of the A. & P. grocery chain, to Roosevelt's son Elliott. The debt was made in 1939. In 1941, when Hartford and his company were under fire from Roosevelt's department of justice, it was settled for $4,000, or two cents on the dollar. Even so, Elliott did not provide the $4,000, nor did any member of the family.

The versions of the case given by Hartford and Caruthers Ewing of New York, his attorney, flatly charge the late president with highly improper conduct. He is said to have sent out a new deal congressman to find someone willing to lend Elliott $200,000 on "unbankable" security and is accused of requesting Jesse Jones, then secretary of commerce and head of the RFC., to arrange the settlement whereby the debt was almost entirely forgiven. At the time of the loan, Hartford's interests were seriously threatened by a bill in congress which might have taxed his chain out of business. At the time of the settlement, the department of justice had already begun a series of actions under the anti-trust law as a result of which Hartford, personally, is now a defendant in a criminal trial in the federal courts in Danville, Ill.

The one man involved who should be most sensitive to aspersions on the late president's honor and his official conduct is his own son, Elliott.

If Elliott is willing, by his silence, to leave unchallenged the obvious conclusion that Roosevelt used the prestige of the presidency to promote and then wipe out a loan for him, there is little, if anything, that others can do to repair a reputation that has been compared, perhaps prematurely, to Abraham Lincoln's.

And Elliott can redress matters only if he is able to testify convincingly that his father did not send out a scout to find someone who would lend him the money, that his father did not speak to him and Hartford by long-distance phone from Warm Springs, Ga., heartily endorsing the idea, and did not enlist the help of Jones in washing it out.

Democratic congressmen already have made a partisan issue of the straight question of official decency. But the nation's interest and the historical record are more important than the politics of the henchmen of the new deal in congress and in the government bureaus, some of whom may be suspected of personal fear of the consequences to themselves if an inquiry into this incident should develop into a historic scandal. Either President Roosevelt grossly abused the power of his office for the personal gain of his son, or the good name of a man now gone, for whom claims of greatness have been made, has been sullied by false charges.

Nor is it necessary to consult Elliott Roosevelt's wishes. He is now less susceptible to a summons to appear before a committee of congress and tell the truth on a matter of enormous importance than J. P. Morgan was during the Pecora investigation in the early days of the new deal.

Hartford and Ewing should be called, of course, to vindicate him if he can and owes the nation a duty to tell the truth. Indeed his own conduct, on full investigation, might prove to have been that of a fixer doing a sordid job with a clothes-pin on his nose.

Thus far Hartford, Ewing and Jones have agreed that Elliott did borrow the money on "unbankable" security and that Jones did negotiate the settlement at Roosevelt's request. As to whether the president sent William Sirovich, a New York new deal politician, to discover someone willing to make the loan, we have only Ewing's word, Sirovich having died meanwhile. Ewing, however, is a lawyer of good reputation whose word has not even been challenged in this detail and it may be noted that he did not willingly release the story, but, on the contrary, sent a telegram at the eleventh hour, earnestly recommending that it be withheld.

The question whether Hartford shall be allowed to deduct his $196,000 loss from his taxable income is a routine matter for decision. He did not try to collect the loan as the law requires and the initiative came from the debtor's side when it finally was settled. So, perhaps, the loss is not deductible as a bad debt but deductible nevertheless as a stock loss. For that matter, he may reckon that he might have had to pay a tax of about $180,000 on that $200,000 even if he had not loaned the money.

Elliott, however, obviously gained the entire $200,000 and what he did with it the public does not know. And, inasmuch as he got back his stock, which since has recovered in value, it would appear that his gain might have been much more than $200,000.

There were other deals in Elliott's career as a radio magnate more or less similar to the Hartford loan. One involves a wealthy contributor to Democratic party funds who received an appointment to an important office which he still holds.

Any honest, non-political investigation would develop the truth and either clear President Roosevelt's name or develop a legacy of misconduct for the private gain of relatives and friends comparable only to the sorry record of President U. S. Grant.

News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon

Washington,—The Chinese accounts have been daily describing how they are "fighting their way forward."

This is a nice way of putting it. A more accurate way would relate that the Japs are giving up central and southern China.

This strategic Jap retreat is tremendously important to us. It means they are drawing back their vast numbers for a final stand of the war against our massing power.

My information is they will retire all the way back to the Yangtze river and Shanghai, there to establish an emperor's line, or whatever they choose to call it. South of the line they will hold only the China ports with suicide squads (as Hitler did in France.)

Unquestionably they will try to hold Hongkong, Swatow and Amoy and possibly other points - just to prevent us from using these needed bases for Asiatic operations.

This is what General Stilwell knew when he started talking in print the other day about the war lasting two years. He does not apparently expect bombing will bring surrender earlier, or anticipate that business leaders will take over the Tokyo government and seek peace.

In case the Japs fight to the last, we will have to go in and clean them out in China as well as upon the mainland and there are many who suspect their fight for Manchuria will be bigger than in behalf of their mainland.

Estimates of their troops in North China (including those retreating northward) run as high as 2,000,000 men compared with 1,000,000 on the mainland, although these estimates are not to be depended upon.

The retreat strategy was necessary because of their weak extended position, but it will be a costly business for them. They will lose (abondon is a more precise word for it) the railroad from Hankow down to Hongkong, and therefore all land connection with their 200,000 troops now remaining in Malaya (overestimated generally in public comments to be 345,000.)

They cannot very well supply these by sea under our air and submarine blockade. Hence, the strategy puts their whole South Asia force in a position for suicide, of an aggressive or voluntary nature.

But if you have been looking at their narrow escape corridors in China, and suspecting the Chinese could cut off large bodies of their troops by driving wedges across the Hongkong-Hankow railroad, you must abandon any such hope.

True enough the Chinese are attacking in some spots, but even in those spots the Japs are managing to keep control of the situation by counter-attacks, and in general the Chinese are not strong enough to do anything important.

All the Japs would have to do (to stop any Chinese ambitions is to move troops down the railroads from Hankow, where they have plenty of unused reserve power. They can control any area they really want. Chinese aggressiveness, therefore, must be cautiously limited.

The Chinese have drawn some of their troops back from the Burma front (a this operation. Our Fourteenth Air Force is getting more planes now, and moving back into their lost bases. However, nothing much can be done until we get power in there, and this will take many months especially with the ports still in Jap hands.

The Australian move into Borneo has centered attention on Malaya and caused many to suggest we may hop in there next. This common interpretation represents too-easy anticipation.

We went into Borneo for oil and bases - only those two things. The wells are in bad condition but can be repaired in time to be of great benefit to us in the final drives of the Pacific war. The airfields in Borneo give us good bombing range (radius) over everything in the far Southwest Pacific from the Celebes through Java and Sumatra to Malaya.

The Japs have not been able to get any appreciable quantities of oil out of Borneo since we went into the Philippines as we control the sea lanes from there to China and Japan. The loss will therefore not be important to them; but the gain will be helpful to our plans.

With this move we have established a fighting front 1,500 miles long from Burma to Okinawa, facing Asia. In general the continent is only 400 to 600 miles away.

Legislature in Semi-Windup Wek

Springfield, Ill., June 18 (AP) —The tax assessment controversy topped the heavy docket confronting the Illinois legislature today as the assembly entered the semi windup of its six months session.

The house was scheduled to vote tonight on whether to eliminate the customary committee discussion and decision on senate-approved legislation intended to produce statewide uniformity in tax assessment valuations.

Governor Green has called for quick enactment to prevent "chaos" in taxing machinery throughout the state. The Taxpayers Federation of Illinois has expressed opposition and the Civic Federation of Chicago has advised against "hasty handling."

The Republican governor's $99,000,000 postwar works program and Democratic Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett's $125,000,000 soldier bonus plan will compete for house favor later this week.

Both plans call for using most of the present $125,000,000 state treasury surplus. The governor's bill already has cleared the senate and has a better chance of enactment.

House showdowns also are expected soon on congressional reapportionment and repeal of public housing tax exemption.

Field of Rice Paddies Camouflaged Jap Base

With the U. S. Tenth Army on Okinawa, June 18—(AP)—The Marine outfit which includes Capt. Charles Hamilton of Morrison, Ill., had to capture a field or rice paddies near Itoman before finding out is was really a camouflaged Japanese air base.

Once unmasked, however, the field, complete to a fake farm house, was soon put to effective use by the Americans. Within two hours Cub planes skimmed along its runways, evacuating wounded.

TONY'S CHANEL NUMBER 5

VI

AL GINGISS and I managed to get our first relief visit to Calcutta at the same time, and it was on that trip that we met "the Great White Trader of the East," Tony Mercede, of Blue Island, Ill.

How Tony came by his imposing title was a mystery for a little less than 10 minutes, at which point, as we stood at the bar of the 300 Club on Wood Street, he furtively pulled a tiny package from his trousers' pocket. With thick but amazingly deft fingers the 240-pound, black-haired little giant opened the package and revealed a sparkling bottle of Chanel Number 5, a female luxury which we later found was about as rare in Calcutta as a snowdrift.

"With this little prize, boys," Tony said, "you can make a hit with any girl in all of India. It's yours for 100 bucks."

Gingiss and I stared at the man. Then Gingiss turned to me. "He's crazy," Al said.

"Crazy as a loon," I agreed.

"Crazy like a fox," Tony said, laughing boisterously.

His laugh attracted the startled attention of the tall and dignified Englishman standing next to him. And then, as Tony much less furtively started to put the perfume back in his pocket, the Britisher touched him on the arm. "I beg your pardon," the fellow said, "but is that a bottle of Chanel Number 5 that I—ahh—saw in your hand?" The man's face was flushed, but his eagerness overrode his embarrassment. "Rude of me, I know," he said. "but—well, after all, sir—Chanel Number 5!"

Tony winked at Gingiss and me as he gave his attention to the Englishman. "It cost me a fortune, I don't know why I ever bought it. But that's what it is—Chanel Number 5. Maybe you know someone who'd like to take it off my hands—for $150."

The Englishman looked around nervously as if to ward off any further bids as he dug into his pocket. Then quickly he turned over the money, pocketed the perfume, and after gulping down his Scotch and soda dashed out of the bar.

"Amazing!" Gingiss exclaimed, staring at Tony.

TONY MERCEDE has been one of my best friends from the first day we met. He is back in the States now, a traffic expert with a nationwide trucking concern, but how he can reconcile himself to such an uneventful life as that after what he went through in China and India for two years is a mystery to me. He started in the trucking business as a greaser and mechanic when he was 16, coming up the hard way to the point where, in 1941, he was loaned to the United States government by his employer. The government, having received the Arnstein report on the inefficient use and handling of Lend-lease trucking equipment on the Burma Road, immediately sent Tony to China as a transportation adviser to the Chinese government.

Tony was well on his way when the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor; he cleared Manila 12 hours before the city fell. He was a transportation engineer on the Burma Road when the Japs invaded Burma in the spring of 1942, and he was working with the Chinese troops dynamiting bridges and fighting off guerrilla attacks throughout the long campaign which finally left the road a useless ribbon of bomb craters and rubble as far north as Lashio on the Chinese border. After that he still worked to keep the road clear and traffic moving between Lashio and Kunming and on up to Chungking, and for many months before he returned to the States with Gingiss and me in the summer of 1943 he was in charge of a construction gang on the new Ledo Road—more commonly called the "Road to Tokyo."

TONY wasn't the only trinket trader among the American lads in China and India, but he was by far the most famous of them. Most of the trading among our officers and engineers and ground crews and pilots was done haphazardly. A fellow newly arrived would have an extra cigaret lighter in his baggage, and he would soon find a purchaser willing to pay 10 times its original cost because cigaret lighters are unobtainable. Another would have some fancy lipstick, or a bottle of perfume, or a pair of nylon stockings. Such stuff would be brought along for very obvious reasons, but when the boys discovered there was a good cash market for it, they would try to sell their little prizes.

At that point, Tony would usually be on hand. And because his job took him all around the country—from Chungking in the north all the way to Calcutta in the south—he could usually find a market for anything he picked up. He would take along a bag full of female trinkets when he went to Calcutta and sell them—as he did the Chanel Number 5—to some anxious swain in the city of high-priced romance. Then he would shop around among the native stores and shops, picking up some liquor or tobacco or knives to take back with him.

He was a gambler of great ability and infinite nerve. He got into a 10-day poker game at Kunming on one occasion with a bunch of Flying Tigers and was over $5000 in the hole when his luck changed on the last day. He lost 16 pounds during that session, but when the game was over and the chips were counted Tony was $12,000 ahead.

GROP-Freemans Cop Number Six From Princeton, 6 to 1

Davis Hurls Four Hit Game as Team Pulls Out of Bad Slump

"They almost look like a ball club out there today, don't they?" grinned Speed Saunders as his GROP-Freeman charges laid a 6 to 1 whipping on Princeton at Reynold's Field yesterday afternoon. It was true ,the locals looked like a ball team for the first time in three weeks. Their hitting was steadier, their fielding showed great improvement over that of the last two games, and they even talked like a ball team. It sounded good to hear the boys "talk it up" as if they really wanted to win, instead of half-heartedly doing their tasks in silenc e.

Club Comes to Life

Perhaps last week's defeat brought the locals to life, and the good turn-outs from practice undoubtedly had an uplifting effect on the players. At least, the locals won another game, which gives them a 6-1 won-loss record. Although they don't look like the same ball team that started the season, they appear to have snapped out of their slump of indifference and overconfidence.

Davis Hurls Best Game

Big Charlie Davis chewed hard on his cud of gum, and pitched his best game of the season. In limiting the Princeton men to four hits he set down seven with strike outs and issued only three walks. An untimely error robbed the big red head of shutout number two, but he allowed only three men to pass first base.

Princeton got off to what looked like a gooo start as short stop Monier slapped out a single after Bob Pierson had flied out to left. Danielson then sen Moni er scampering to second as he came through with hit number two. Disaster followed, however, as Charlie Davis made Ralph Thomson, pitcher and clean up hitter, hit into a double play.

Locals Get Early Lead

In the last half, Johnny Sloan led off with a sharp single to center field and crossed second as Jimmie Burke banged his number two. Both advanced a base as Wayne Shaulis beat out a bunt, loading the bases. McClain then struck out and Dale Frey popped out to the pitcher, after which George Myers got on base on an error by the catcher. Sloan scoring and Burke moving to third. Davis was also lucky, as the pitcher booted the ball, scoring Burke. Lyle Woodyatt got on with a fielders choice, as Princeton failed to nab Myers going to third while Shaulis crossed the plate for run number three. Big Paul Brown lifted one into deep left field, but a fleet fielder got under it in time to end the inning.

After seting down the first three men in the second, the locals advanced their lead by scoring Sloan, who got hit number two for himself. Burke went out to third, following which McClain made first as the catcher dropped the third strike, Frey got on base the same way, but the catcher picked off McClain as he went to third to retire the side.

Princeton Scores in Sixth

After two quiet inning the war worker-shoemen stretched their lead to five runs as Frey scored after a long fly ball. In the sixth, Princeton finally broke the ice as Danielson got hit number two and came home on McClain's error.

The eseventh stanza brought the locals' final counter with Shaulis scoring after a long double and a wild throw to third.

The last two innings were uneventful and with the final out, the GROP-Freeman ball club had notched up their sixth win in seven tries.

Ellerbusch, Morrison Missed

The absence of third sacker Dick Ellerbusch was noticeable but Carl McClain did an admirable job of holding down the hot corner while Paul Brown took over the catching gear and played a fine game in the back stop spot. Al Morrison, suffering from a back ailment, spent the day as a bench jockey while Shaulis, Myers and Woodyatt held the outfiel down. Johnny Sloan got his first hit in three games, as he connected on two pitches — Wayne Shaulis robbed a Princeton hitter of a sure double with a beautiful running catch in deep right-center field— Dale Frey stretched like a rubber man to pick up several rather wild throws to first—Paul Brown and his constant stream of chatter was as amusing to the spectators as it was unnerving to the opposing hitters. His antics behind the plate helped keep the whole team in high spirits and instilled plenty of fire and zip into the club.

Prepare for Rock Falls

With an open game for next Sunday, the locals are looking for some stiff competition to put them in hsape for the coming battle with Howe's All-Stars from Rock Falls on July 1. On the 4th of July, the locals have a return bout with the fighting West Brooklyn club, and they are out to revenge the pasting given to them by West Brooklyn last Sunday.

Thus far in the season, the locals have displayed some fine baseball, and if they pick up a little in their play, they appear to have a chance to be one of the best teams in this part of the state. At least the fans and followers are hoping so and if we may say so, we hope so too.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, June —(AP)— Gordon Kirkland, Catawba College baseball coach, who made one appeal to Commissioner Harry Chandler to stop the "kidnaping of young players by major league scouts, now is urging every high school and college coach to write the commissioner . . . That would show unanimity, but it is doubtful whether it would do much good otherwise . . . The high school boys probably will be safe once the older players come back from the war and its up to the college coaches to show that they can give a boy a real baseball education while he's getting some book-learning too . . . Kirkland points out that pro football has "cooperated" with the colleges, but the footballers have their draft syste mto prevent competition in signing players and they don't want to establish an expensive minor league system of developing material when the colleges can do it for them.

HOT SMOKES

Home runs really are worth while at Ebbets Field these days . . . Every time Sportscaster Red Barber sees the ball going over the fence, he hosses a carton of those cigarettes he advertises down the grandstand wire and when the hitter crosses the plate, the mascot mitts him with the arton . . . That's one way to get cigarettes—and also one way to get away with throwing things at those "ferocious gentlemen."

CHARITL COMES HOME

Three Baldwinsville, N. Y., women bowlers who are among the 256,000 contributors to the "Wings of Mercy" campaign, got the thrill of a lifetime recently when Capt. Harley Loveless wrote to his mother: "Dear Mom, did you help buy the airplane that the Women's International Bowling Congress donated to the Army Air Forces? If you did, your son has been flying a plane you helped to buy. It is called Miss Nightingale II, and it is a honey of an airplane." . . . The captain's mother, his wife and his sister all bowl on the same team.

MONDAY MATINEE

Bill Cane, who staged the Hambletonian at Goshen N. Y., reports that ticket orders already have been received from every state and from Canada and that all attendance records are sure to fall . . . Well, there aren't any trolley cars in Goshen . . . Oklahoma U. athletic leaders are finding it tough trying to buck two football bowl winners—Tulsa and Oklahoma Aggies—in their own state. The Aggies got Bill Grimes, Comanche high school board jump ace and all-state halfback . . . When the Giants were trying to trade, the Cubs only asked Bill Voiselle for bench-warmer Heinz Becker and turned down two outfielders, a pitcher and some dough for Lou Novikoff.

Eight of Illinois Former Greats on Duty Against Japs

Champaign, Ill., June 18 (AP) - Eight former greats of the University of Illinois' "Fightin' Illini" are doing their bit in eliminating the Japs in the South Pacific according to school officials.

They include:

Lt Andy Phillip Granite City star basketball player of 1943, recently decorated for bravery, won with the 4th Marine headquarters in Hawaii after action on Iwo Jima.

Maj. Bob Campbell, of Chicago, who played end for Bob Zuppke in 1938-39-40 just returned to Camp Lejeune, N. C, after 27 months overseas during which he saw action at Bougainville, Guam and Iwo Jima.

John Genis, Chicago captain-elect of the 1943 football team, and Len MaChak of Waukegan, guard on the 1941 grid team, are at Okinawa. Tres Tergoning, La-Salle, 1942 halfback, and Alex Agase, Evanston 1942 guard, recently were transferred from Okinawa to the Iwo Jim base.

Elmer Engel, Chicago, an end who won the team's most valuable player award in 1942 at Guam after 12 months of active combat.

Russ Hanisch, his pal at Austin high school in Chicago headed back to the states to complete his education after being wounded on Guam and discharged.

Brooklyn in First Place After Win Over Boston, 9-6

Pirates, Giants Tied for Second as Both Drop Twin Bills

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Those "ferocious gentlemen from Brooklyn are in undisputed possession of first place in the National League today for the first time this season.

Chosen by baseball writers to finish nea rthe bottom, the surprising Dodgers climaxed a great early June drive by humbling Mort Cooper and the Boston Braves 9-6 in the opene rof yesterday's scheduled double header to sweep past both Pittsburgh and New York. The Bucs and Giants are now tied for second place, one game behind.

In pitching the Dodgers to their ninth victory in the last 11 games, Hal Gregg gained the distinction of becoming the first hurler to take a decision from Cooper, who had won six straight. The victory was the ninth for Gregg, although he had to have help when the Braves rallied for three runs in the eighth. The second game was halted by the Massachusetts 6:30 p. m curfew law with the Braves ahead 4-1 after seven innings. The game will be completed in August.

The Pirates and Giants each dropped twin bills, the Pirates to the oncoming St. Louis Cardinals 7-0 and 6-2, and the New Yorkers to the last place Philadelphia Phillies 11-9 and 6-2.

Ken Burkhart blanked the Bucs with five hits in the opener, while Ted Wilks gave up the same amount of hits in the nightcap. The double triumph moved the fourth place Redbirds only a half-game behind the Bucs and Giants.

Phils Whip Giants Twice

The lowly Phils surprised the Ottmen with a 16-hit outburst in the opener and continued their winning ways in the nightcap with the aid of a brilliant scoreless five-heat relief job by Anton Karl. Jim Wasdell paced the winners with two homers, one in each game to rive in five runs. Giant ace Bill Voiselle suffered his sixth straight setback in the afterpiece, following a string of eight triumphs.

The league-leading Detroit Tigers took it on the chin twice from the Chiacgo White Sox 6-1 and 7-5, but retained first place in the American League, although their lead was cut to one and one-half games.

Veteran Thornton Lee won his eighth in the opener with a neat six-hitter, while Joe Haynes gained credit for his fifth in the nightcap, although he suffered a fractured leg sliding into third in the fifth frame.

Yanks, Athletics Split

The New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics split. After Floyd Bevens won the opener for the Yanks 7-1 from Buck Newsom, the Mackmen's Russ Christopher notched the his 11th triumph 1-2. The victory not only made Christpher the biggest winner in the majors, but gave him the unique distinctionn of downing more than half the total triumphs of the entire Philadelphia Club (20).

Boston's rampaging Red Sox took two from Washington 2-1 and 7-1 to pull up within a game and a half of the second place Yankees. Emmett O'Neill outdueled Dutch Leonard in the opener while George Metkovich paced the second game offensive with a single, double and triple off the Nats' Cuban hurler, Santiago Ullrich making his first major league start.

A three-run rally in the ninth gave the Chicago Cubs their eighth victory over Cincinnati 3-1 in the opener of what was supposed to be a double header. The second game was postponed by rain as was the Cleveland-St. Louis Browns twin bill. Harry Lowry's single scored the tying and winning runs for the Cubs to give Paul Derringer who had relieved starter Hank Wyse, his eighth triumph.

Belmont Stakes Winner in Doubt

New York, June 18 (AP)— Defeat of Hoop, Jr the Kentucky Derby winner, and Pavot the 1944 juvenile champion, in the Preakness at Pimlico on Saturday has left the three-year-old racing picture in a jumbled state.

What will happen next Saturday in the $50,000 Belmont Stakes, last of the triple crown events is probably as much a mystery to turf writers as to the horses themselves.

The situation is such that no one would be surprised if William Helis made a last minute decision to have his $66,000 beauty, Pericles, make his first start in the rich Belmont fixture.

Mrs P. A. B. Widener's Polynesian who earned $66,170 in beating Hoop Jr, by 2½ lengths and Pavot by five is not eligible for the Belmont. Neither is Mrs W. G. Lewis' Darby Dieppe, who ran third in both the Derby and the Preakness.

In addition Hoop Jr owned by Fred W. Hooper pulled up lame in the Preakness and may not start while trainer Ben Jones may decide to keep Warren Wright's Pot O'Luck at Washington Park in Chicago instead of shipping him east for the grueling mile and one-half route.

The handicap division is more stable. As in 1941 and 1943 when Whirlaway and Count Fleet swept to the triple crown, the Greentree Stable's Devil Diver is a standout. He won the $50,000 suburban Handicap by three lengths Saturday and now needs only to take the Brooklyn cap to retain his handicap championship.

Foreman Wins Golf Title in Illinois

St. Charles, Ill., June 18—(AP) —Harold Foreman, Jr., muscular young man from the Lake Shore Country Club of Chicago, looks more like a golfer who can slam a ball down the fairways with his woods, but he also has a gentle, and precise, touch with a putter.

He proved that yesterday as he one-putted ten greens to retain his Illinois amateur golf championship by defeating Sgt. Walter Burkemo of Evanston, 4 and 2, on the fairways of the St. Charles Country club.

He did use his woods to advantage, too, outdrivng Sgt. Burkemo from all but one of the tees in the 36-hole championship match.

Foreman was four-up after the morning's 18-hole round, and he wasn' pressed during the afternoon's final 18 holes. H and Sgt. Burkemo, who only recently returned from overseas, halved the first four holes in the morning. Foreman won the fifth and sixth, they halved the next two and Foreman won the ninth to take a three-up advantage with a medal score of 35, two under par, going out.

On the last nine of the morning, they halved the first three before Sgt. Burkemo won his first hole of the match, the 13th Foreman won the next two to go four up, halved the 16th and then each won a hole.

Afternoon Tour

On the afternoon tour, Foreman's putter continued to be hot, and after halving the first three holes, Foreman went five up when Sgt. Burkemo was short on his first iron shot and had to take two putts. Foreman dropped in a putt from the edge of the green for a birdie two on the 115-yard 23rd hole to go six-up, but Burkemo cut his lead down to four-up with great iron play and two one-putt greens to cop the next two holes. They halved the 26th, and on the next, Burkemo won his third hole of the afternoon round.

They halved the next six holes and on the 31th, Foreman outdrove the sergeant. The latter's chip shot hit the edge of the cup and he needed two putts for a five. Foreman played safe, taking two putts for a four to win the hole and take the title.

Foreman had a medal score of 71, one under par, for the morning round, four less than Sgt Burkemo. On the 16 holes played in the afternoon, the champion carded a 70, five over par while Sgt Burkemo also had a total of 70.

Softball Outfits Scheduled to Play For This Summer

Now that the schedules have all been turned in for the softball teams of the city, tomorrow will inaugurate the regular league games for the season. Last Thursday's games were not scored as official league games, but rather as openers for the summer series. Among the many pitfalls in the way of beginning the season are the lack of personnel for the teams, the lack of enough diamonds in proper condition for games, and most of all the lack of enough support from the people of the city.

Coaches, Umpires, Badly Needed

Coach, umpires, managers, score keepers, and just geenral help of any kind is needed badly to make the season the success it was hoped to be. Only through the assistance of the citizenry can this youth movement keep from being a failure. All interested people should contact one of the members of the Coordinating Council if they wish to render any help.

The large number of boys called to Chicago for army examinations may create a great shortage in the team personnel if they dont' return by Tuesday evening in time for the games, and it rather looks like the younger set will be the only teams that are filled to any great extent with players.

Tuesday's Scheduled Games

Some of this week's north side games will have to be played at the high school diamonds, due to the poor condition of the fields at Borden's and Assembly park, but it is expected that next week will find the diamonds in shape so all the games can be played without any crowding. On deck for tomorrow night are, in the high school league: Kernan vs Wadsworth (who has taken over since Sloan resigned the post) at the high school, Memke vs. Eggebrecht at the high school, Thoms vs Vaile at Reynolds Field, and Acker vs. Walker at Reynolds Field. In the younger leagues, on the south side: St. Mary's Phantoms vs. Ted Fish Lin at Lincoln, St. Mary's Tigers vs Clayton Bosley, Lin at Reynolds Field, Albert Bellows S. C. vs. Tom Legget S. C at 11th and Highlandat 7:00 p. m. At 6.00 p. m., St Mary's vs Phyllis Diehl S. C. at 11th and Highland, aMry eMrcer Lin vs. Carol Schrader Lin at Lincoln. These are in the 12 year old girls' league. On the north side, in girls' to 12, M Kerley vs. Dudman at the high school, 6 00 p. m. In boys 13 to 15, James McLean vs. Don Memler at Borden's, 7:00 p m. As an added attraction, on the 4th of July two all star teoms picked from the ranks of the high school leagues, will play a game at the park, and as a topper, ad old timers' team will schedule a meeting with another high school group. In all, it should prove interesting as well as entertaining to watch the games on the 4th.

Because of the question of the condition and number of diamonds to be used by the high school teams, the locations for their games will be announced later.

CATAPULT SEAT

The newest escape device perfected for fighter pilots to use in case of emergencies is a catapult seat that allows a pilot to drop through the floor of his plane when he presses a release lever and depresses a treadle bar with his feet. Designed for use on pusher-type planes, the seat throws the pilot clear of the propeller. Heretofore a pilot had to free himself through the top of his cockpit, an awkward and dangerous procedure.

Dixon Golfers Win Second Match at Rock River Course

In their second match, the Dixon Country Club golfers teed of with a vengeance at the Rock River Country Club to whip the Sterling opposition, 28 to 14. The narrow fairways and many sand traps and water holes, not to mention the trees, held less trouble for the locals than for the home team, as they caried off top honors for the day.

Although the games of the Sterling crew weren't tops, their hospitality was unexcelled anywhere, and the local outfit had a very enjoyable as well as successful time at the course.

Stone House Shoots Low

Ralph Stonehouse, local pro, went along to the course as a guest and one-over-par 67 to top the day's scoring. In the reguarly scheduled play, Floyd Smith took high honors with a 75, Ken Detweiler, Wally Elifson, and Dean Hey close behind with 78's. George Joyce shot a 79 for fifth high, but the remander o fthe team kept their scores in deep secrecy. The team, made up of 17 men, was as follows: Ken Detweiler, Wilson Dysart, Wally Elifson, Ralph Coffey, George Joyce, Floyd Smith, Don Raymond, Joe Miller, Dr. Lazier, Ralph Schroeder, Gene Barriman, Dean Hey, Dwight Hartzell, Carl Buchner, Harry Kerz, Lee Shoaf, and Art Korzan.

Have Won Both Starts

In two trials ,the local link friends have been successful, and if the few low scorers can hold their present pace, and the others can manage to cut theirs to a fair level, they are a good bet to continue the season in fine shape. A return battle has been scheduled tenatively for July 29, and will be held on the local course.

Although the local club has been angling for a meeting with Rochelle for next Sunday, nothing definite has been scheduled. However, a supper match is on deck for tomorrow night at the country club with an inter-team game to be played. Every day last year—to fill your daily needs and Uncle Sam's—the Illinois Central delivered an average of 219,490 tons of freight after moving it 297 miles.

The job went on around the clock, while you worked, played and slept. Pictured here are some of the items delivered in an average 24 hours.

Poets' Corner

"MY CLASSMATE"

A spoke in the wheel has been broken
A point on the star doesn't gleam
My thoughts and my memories are my only tokens
Of my classmate Harry, who seems only a dream

We grew up together in a peaceful little town
Together we worked studied and played
But now we shall have to turn those pages down
For a golden journey before you is laid

You were my graduating classmate
But you missed it by only a day
For God found a spot in Heaven and with Fate
Peacefully stole you away

But God grants only the lonely and the good
The privilege to live in His far-distant land
For freedom love and charity you stood
Before Eternity took you in hand

Though wings of love have taken you
Somehow you shall always be
More close than ever and even more true
And twice as dear to me

This peaceful town shall now be haunted
In each and every place
With little ghosts of sadness that are unwanted
And the memories of your face

Memories of the happy days gone by
Of the things we've said and done
To keep these real and alive I'll try
Lest they fade and I lose them in the sun

Your smart and easy spirit
Fluttered and failed for breath
But tonight these traits you inherit
In that ghastly halo of death

So farewell my classmate so dear
I shall talk with you no more
But once again your voice I'll hear
When I reach that golden shore

So rest and be patient though long it may be
And when I reach Heaven's gate
Once again your face and soul I'll see
And you'll still remain My Classmate"

Potato Shortage to be Short-Lived Say Government Students

Washington D C June 18—(AP) A potato shortage is reported in many areas but government food experts said it should not last long.

In fact this year's early crop is the biggest on record. It is expected to be over 61,000,000 bushels compared with about 52,700,000 last year.

An agriculture department official said the trouble appeared to be that the 1944 late crop none too big was eaten before this year's early crop came on the market. The result was a shortage which will end as more of the 1945 crop reaches consumers.

NorthWestern Credits Lee Co. With $30,000 in War Bond Purchase

Lee county will be credited with $30,000 in war bonds by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company as the result of its purchase of $15,000,000 in Seventh War Loan bonds.

This was announced today by R L Williams, president of the railway company, who pointed out that as in previous war bond purchases by the company, credit will be allocated to more than 200 counties in eight of the states in which the railway operates.

Since the First War Loan drive the Northwestern has purchased more than $165,000,0000 in various types of war securities" Williams declared. "This does not include several million dollars in war bonds bought on the payroll allotment plan by company officers and employes."

"The importance of the Seventh War Loan cannot be over-emphasized in the light of the tremendous requirements of our armed forces in the Pacific area" he said. "Every bond purchased at this time will shorten the war and help save American lives."

Former Judge in Jail; Seeks Habaeus Corpus Writ in Federal Court

Monticello, Ill., June 18 (AP) - W. A. Doss, former Piatt County Judge, sat in a jail cell today, preparing his fourth habeas corpus petition in a fight against sentences on charge of criminal libel and contempt of court.

After surrendering to Sheriff E. E. Lindsley at midnight Saturday, Doss said the petition would be submitted to the federal district court in Danville, Ill., this week. Three times previously he has gone to jail on the sentences and each time he has been released within a few hours on habeas corpus petitions.

His last release was granted through a stay order of the state Supreme court which freed him on bond pending a hearing on a habeas corpus petition he filed June 4. The order was withdrawn by the court, however, and a mittimus for his arrest issued last week.

Convicted in 1942, Doss was sentenced to six months in jail on charges of libering State's Attorney Carl I. Gleason in "The Liberty Press," a Doss publication. A jail sentence for contempt of court also was imposed.

Blackhawk Division Arrives in New York En Route to Pacific

New York, June 18 (AP) The 86th (Blackhawk) Division, first to cross the Danube in the south Germany offensive early this spring, yesterday became the first full combat division to return to America on its way to battle Japan.

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and other high-ranking officials flew from Washington to welcome the 86th in a spectacular reception that included the din of harbor whistles, music of service bands and impromptu jitterbug dances by civilian girl employes of the New York port of embarkation aboard the "welcome home" boat.

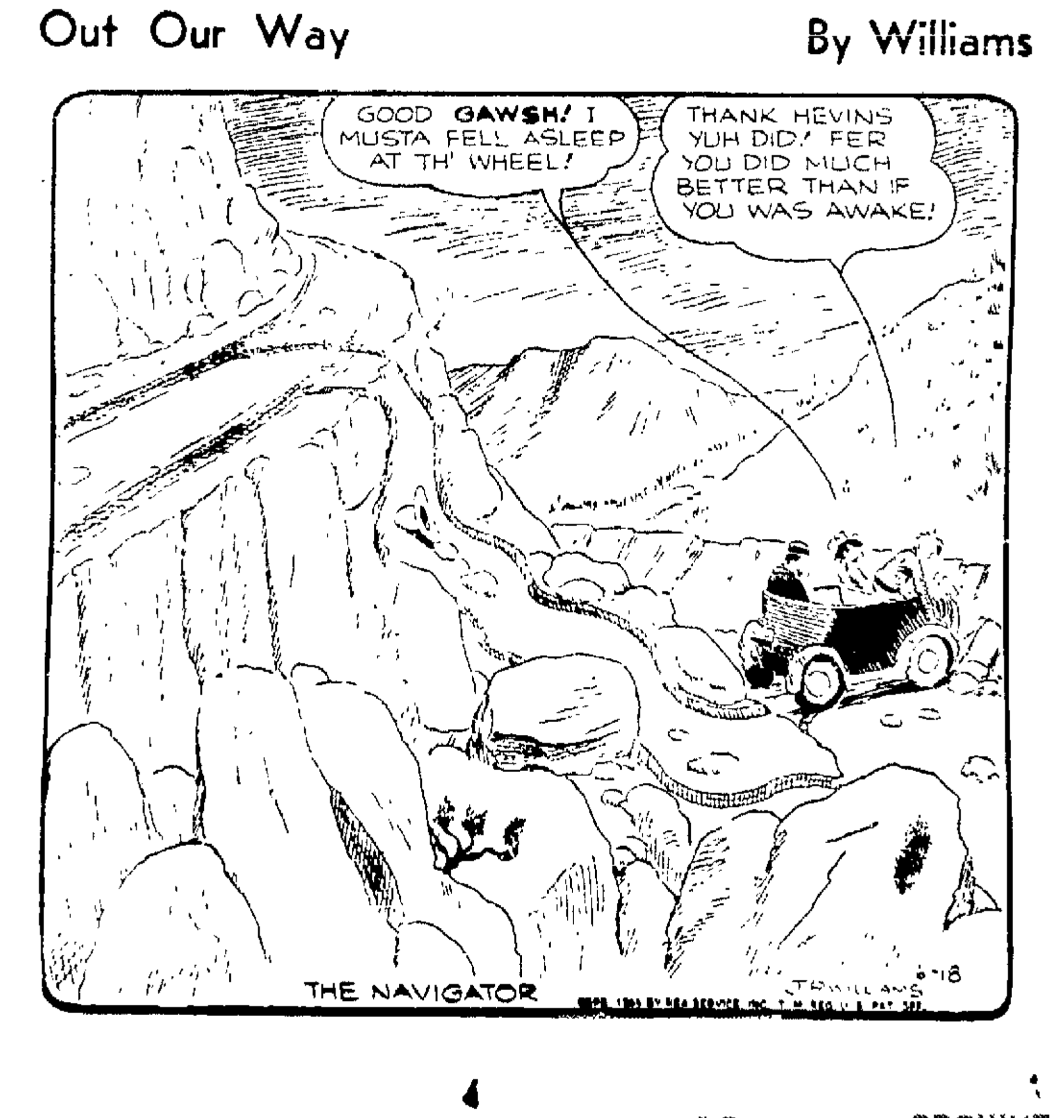

The 11,289 veteran troops arrived in four transports.

The jubilant soldiers, yelling greeting to the WAC band on the welcome boat and the Red Cross girls who distributed refreshments on shore, piled down the gangplanks and departed for Camp Kilmer, N. J. After rapid processing, the men were to leave for the reception center nearest their home. Most will be granted 30-day furloughs before returning to duty.

"MY CLASSMATE"

A spoke in the wheel has been broken
A point on the star doesn't gleam
My thoughts and my memories are my only tokens
Of my classmate Harry, who seems only a dream

We grew up together in a peaceful little town
Together we worked studied and played
But now we shall have to turn those pages down
For a golden journey before you is laid

You were my graduating classmate
But you missed it by only a day
For God found a spot in Heaven and with Fate
Peacefully stole you away

But God grants only the lonely and the good
The privilege to live in His far distant land
For freedom love and charity you stood
Before Eternity took you in hand

Though wings of love have taken you
Somehow you shall always be
More close than ever and even more true
And twice as dear to me

This peaceful town shall now be haunted
In each and every place
With little ghosts of sadness that are unwanted
And the memories of your face

Memories of the happy days gone by
Of the things we've said and done
To keep these real and alive I'll try
Lest they fade and I lose them in the sun

Your smart and easy spirit
Fluttered and failed for breath
But tonight these traits you inherit
In that ghastly hall of death

So farewell my classmate so dear
I shall talk with you no more
But once again your voice I'll hear
When I reach that golden shore

So rest and be patient though long it may be
And when I reach Heaven's gate
Once again your face and soul I'll see
And you'll still remain My Classmate

Potato Shortage to be Short-Lived Say Government Students

Washington D C June 18—(AP)—A potato shortage is reported in many areas but government food experts said it should not last long

In fact this year's early crop is the biggest on record It is expected to be over 64 000 000 bushels compared with about 52 700 000 last year

An agriculture department official said the trouble appeared to be that the 1944 late crop none too big was eaten before this year's early crop came on the market The result was a shortage which will end as more of the 1945 crop reaches consumers

NorthWestern Credits Lee Co. With $30,000 in War Bond Purchase

Lee county will be credited with $30 000 in war bonds by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company as the result of its purchase of $15 000 000 in Seventh War Loan bonds

This was announced today by R L Williams, president of the railway company, who pointed out that as in previous war bond purchases by the company credit will be allocated to more than 200 counties in eight of the states in which the railway operates

Since the First War Loan drive the Northwestern has purchased more than $165 000 0000 in various types of war securities, Williams declared This does not include several million dollars in war bonds bought on the payroll allotment plan by company officers and employes"

The importance of the Seventh War Loan cannot be over emphasized in the light of the tremendous requirements of our armed forces in the Pacific area" he said. Every bond purchased at this time will shorten the war and help save American lives.

Former Judge in Jail; Seeks Habaeus Corpus Writ in Federal Court

Monticello, Ill., June 18 (AP) - W. A Doss, former Platt County Judge, sat in a jail cell today, preparing his fourth habeas corpus petition in a fight against sentences on charge of criminal libel and contempt of court.

After surrendering to Sheriff E. E Lindsley at midnight Saturday, Doss said the petition would be submitted to the federal district court in Danville, Ill., this week. Three times previously he has gone to jail on the sentences and each time he has been released within a few hours on habeas corpus petitions

His last release was granted through a stay order of the state Supreme court which freed him on bond pending a hearing on a habeas corpus petition he filed June 4. The order was withdrawn by the court, however, and a mittimus for his arrest issued last week.

Convicted in 1942 Doss was sentenced to six months in jail on charges of libeling State's Attorney Carl I. Gleason in "The Liberty Press," a Doss publication. A jail sentence for contempt of court also was imposed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 17, was:

"GOD THE PRESERVER OF MAN"

The Golden Text was:

"Let integrity and uprightness preserve me; for I wait on thee. Redeem Israel, O God, out of all his troubles" (Ps. 25: 21, 22).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple. For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me up upon a rock" (Ps. 27: 4, 5).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Mortals must find refuge in Truth in order to escape the error of these latter days. Nothing is more antagonistic to Christian Science than a blind belief without understanding, for such a belief hides Truth and builds on error . . . Through the wholesome chastisements of Love, we are helped onward in the march towards righteousness, peace and purity, which are the landmarks of Science. Beholding the infinite tasks of truth, we pause,—wait on God. Then we push onward, until boundless thought walks enraptured, and conception unconfined is winged to reach the divine glory" (pp. 83, 323).

Hitler Killed by His Own Men, Says Author

Stockholm, Sweden (Reuter) — Hitler was murdered by his own men on April 27, Count Folke Bernadotte, head of the Swedish Red Cross, says in his book, "The End" which has just been published.

Hitler, he wrote, was killed by a poisonous injection. He suffered from Parkinson's disease and was unable to take any initiative, but could only issue counter-orders and execute warrants.

(Parkinson's disease or shaking palsy is a progressive disturbance of the nervous system characterized by weakness and tremors and associated with a peculiar attitude and gait.)

In another chapter the count said Joachim Von Ribbentrop told him Germany planned to get a new alliance with Russia during the last stage of the war. If the Oder line proved impossible to hold Ribbentrop wanted to throw Germany into Russia's arms and transfer a number of divisions to the western front rather than capitulate to the British and Americans.

Nazi Tailor Tells Of Killing Yankee 'Chuting to Ground

Ahrweiler, Germany (AP) — Unemotional and in a hollow voice, 37-year-old Peter Back confessed to an American military commission that he shot an American flyer who parachuted to earth near the village of Priest, Germany, last August.

Without a single quiver of feeling, the small town nazi said he did it "in my excitement" and "without thinking."

The case against Back was finished in short order. The military prosecutor, Maj. Theodore K. Irwin of Dallas, Tex., didn't even make a final argument.

A Crippled Tailor

The commission's verdict will be announced in several days by Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, along with verdicts on three others tried two weeks ago for the same crime. The maximum penalty is death by hanging.

Back, a tailor with one leg crippled by infantile paralysis, sat stiffly in the courtroom, his eyes coldly steady. He frequently consulted his German defense attorney, Franz Mehn of Trier, who also defended the other three, including Matthias Krein.

Krein, testifying against Back told the commission that Back, riding a motorcycle, rushed up to the trapped airman and quickly shot him twice in the head and neck. The shots did not kill him, Krein said, so two other persons killed him with a club and hammer.

Back was a village nazi leader. One of his own character witnesses testified his position in the party was such that the villagers feared him.

Praised by Nazi Boss

In his statement to the court, Back quoted a man named Adam Weber as saying, "It's a pity I didn't find him (the flyer) first—I would have cut his belly open."

Back also quoted an Ernest Conrad as saying, "I would like to burn him," and said Conrad then kicked the airman in the face.

The night of the killing, Back related, he was visited by the nazi district leader from Ruburg who patted him on the back and said: "You did a good job. But next time shoot between the eyes."

When Back insisted he shot the flyer simply "without thinking" his German lawyer prodded, "you must have thought about something."

But Back could say no more than "I was nervous and excited."

Reduced to 7 Members

The nine man trial commission was reduced to seven members at the outset of the trial when Col. Charles H. Bryan of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Col. Horace M. Woodward, Jr., of Washington, D. C., said they already had formed prejudiced opinions about Back's guilt.

The remaining seven members, headed by Col. Louis J. Compton of Washington, D. C., included only two who sat at the previous trial. The other two defendants in the first trial were Peter Kohn and Matthias Gerens.

Hero's Widow Launches Destroyer at Newark

Newark N. J. June 18 (AP) — The widow of Marine Major Kenneth D. Bailey, the congressional medal of honor winner from Danville, Ill., sponsored the 2,200 ton super-destroyer named in his honor when it slid down the ways at the Port Newark Yards.

Mrs. Bailey, who lives in Portsmouth, Va., was greeted by the major parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus D. Bailey of Danville, who had come east for the launching yesterday.

Commander of a Marine raider battalion on Guadalcanal, Major Bailey was awarded the medal of honor for bravery shown during a counter attack which prevented the Japanese from recapturing Henderson field on the island. He died of a head wound received during the action and the medal was awarded posthumously.

Major Bailey, who joined the Marines in Danville as a second lieutenant in 1935, had also been cited five weeks before his death for "heroic and inspiring leadership, although severely wounded," while fighting on Tulagi. At that time he was awarded the Silver Star.

Females Will Be In Majority in U. S. After Conflict

Washington, June 18 (AP) — The postwar population of the United States will be increasingly more female than male.

The reasons are (1) higher peacetime death-rates among the male of all ages and (2) the war's toll of the country's young manhood. Males always outnumbered females until last year, when census bureau estimates showed a feminine lead of about 6,000 in a total population of 138,000,000, including service men overseas.

The growing "deficit" of men indicates a larger proportion of spinsters in the future. However, there is no cause for great alarm among would-be brides of the next few decades. Nor is there anything in the population picture to panic those rugged males who express fear of "more women-domination in what used to be a man's country."

Population experts say that, unless our manpower losses in the war are much heavier than expected, the future "shortage of husbands" will be very small. In an estimated 1980 population of 153,000,000 to 156,000,000, females will outnumber males by less than a million. Incidentally, our population is expected to stop growing about that time because of the declining birth-rate.

More Boys Born Yearly

The male population has been larger than the female because more boys are born every year—about 15 males to 100 females—and because a majority of immigrants were males. On the other hand, the proportion of females has been gaining steadily since 1910 owing to the higher death-rate of males and the decline in immigration.

In the period 1935-1940 male deaths exceeded female deaths by an average of 155,496 a year. Heart ailments, cerebral hemorrhages and most of the other leading killers among the diseases, take a larger toll of men than of women. Deaths from industrial and automobile accidents are more frequent among men than among women.

The war produced a tremendous increase in marriages. Full employment and high wages, as well as anticipated military induction and service overseas, brought a record in weddings. The increase between 1940 and 1944 in the proportion of men who were married was more than six times the increase from 1920 to 1940.

Waterloo, Ia. — (AP) — An 11-year-old boy approached a couple of golfers offering two golf balls for sale.

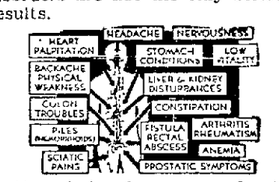

The lad explained he was in partners with his dog, the animal retrieving balls from a water hole the boy selling. Just then the dog, a cocker, bounded up to the pleased acclamations of his master.

"Why that's my dog!" gasped one of the golfers. The boy fled.
